A WIZARD FAMILY WEEKEND

Spooky goings on and creepy crawlies ready to delight all ages at the Great Central Railway (18th, 19th Oct 2008)

With the nights drawing in and Halloween approaching, the Great Central Railway is staging a Wizards weekend to delight every magician's apprentice and their families.

Trains and stations along the line will have a magical theme along with some unusual displays to amaze and delight.

“We've got a falconry display and the team from Twycross Zoo are coming to visit us with a selection of spiders, snakes and other creepy crawlies” said Lynn Hill, the railway's marketing assistant. “Its going to be magic.”

Any trainee sorcerers who really get into the spirit of things by dressing up can magically make their ticket price shrink, for a steam train ride faster than any broomstick. The Great Central currently has a star guest engine, LMS Jubilee class, no 5690 “Leander” visiting and it should be pulling passengers this weekend.
